With a reputation for success built over more than 40 years, Canning College offers students a unique opportunity to advance their education in a university-style, international environment. Canning College has a proud history of helping students achieve their Western Australian Certificate of Education (WACE) and go on to study at university.

As one of the first institutions in Australia to educate international students, Canning College continues to promote intercultural understanding and engagement as a key facet of the learning experience.

On campus, local/domestic students engage with international students from many parts of the world. Students are not required to wear uniforms and there are no bells or sirens to indicate the start of lessons or break periods. This requires students to be self-managers.

Education

The teachers at Canning College are highly qualified and experienced. They understand the needs of international students and the importance of making sure students feel welcomed into the community.

Canning College accepts international students in Years 10, 11 and 12. They offer a broad range of courses including the WACE, the WA Universities' Foundation Program and a Diploma of Commerce. These courses are designed to prepare students for further study at university.

Support for students

Students receive extensive academic support and opportunities for personal growth at Canning College. The college's Global Student Program extends students beyond the classroom by developing leadership skills and preparing them for the transition into tertiary studies. Student advisors give advice about choosing subjects, university study options and career pathways.

A school psychologist is available to support the mental health and academic success of students, and a literacy support teacher helps students with their English language skills. Students can also take advantage of exam workshops, to help them prepare for exams.

Settling in

A student services team makes sure international students have the support they need to transition into living in Perth and to develop the study skills and self-management habits needed for their learning. An orientation program introduces international students to life in Western Australia including a range of daily living skills such as how to navigate the city using public transport and opportunities to join cooking classes to further help students with their transition.

Location

Canning College is located in Bentley, 9.7 kilometres from Perth city centre. It is a peaceful residential area, with many parks, cafes and leisure centres. The college is directly adjacent to Curtin University, and students often use the university's facilities to study. Canning College is a seven-minute walk from the Curtin University Bus Station, which is a major transport hub.
